

NHI chef attends Young Chef Olympiad competition in India

Young Chef Olympiad 2016, a worldwide chef competition was recently held in India with first-ever Omani chef competing.

Mundther Khalfan al Mandhari who is studying at the National Hospitality Institute (NHI) travelled to India under the sponsorship of NHI.

The event is a unique competition held for the second time in India and organised by the International Institute of Hotel Management (IIHM) which is part of the Indismart Group.

Indismart Group large conglomerate that operates Indismart hotels and offers a wide range of services in the field of hospitality management, education training and consultancy in India and South East Asia.

The world's second Young Chef Olympiad was held across four cities starting in New Delhi, Mumbai, and Bangalore before reaching the cultural city of Kolkata where the grand final took place.

Mandhari had been training with NHI for nearly seven months when he was nominated to go to the competition.

He was delighted to be offered the opportunity and took plenty of advice from his teachers at NHI.

During the competition he managed to achieve a place in the semifinals - a feat he and his teachers were delighted about.

On his return to Muscat Mandhari finished his course at NHI and took up employment with his company Al Jarwani.
