

المعهد الوطني للضيافة
national hospitality institute

Times of Oman 29 March 2011

EXHIBITION

NHI, Al Araithi Complex host hospitality and tourism event

MUSCAT: National Hospitality Institute (NHI) and Al Araithi Complex have once again teamed up for the most exciting culinary events. The event was officially opened at 7pm yesterday at Al Araithi Complex and will go on till March 31.

The four-day event at Al Araithi Complex have NHI chefs and students as well as reputed chefs from prominent international hotel chains in Muscat, conducting live demonstrations and offering tips to a keen audience.

A plethora of events will be held every evening from 5pm - 10pm. This would include presentations of cake decoration, vegetable carving, mocktail competition and bed making competition to mention a few as well as the popular Waiters' Race with a twist that will cover the basement and two floors of Al Araithi Complex.

There will also be an English language quiz organised for the first three days and a Travel Quiz on the last day, courtesy E-Travel. The winners will be selected by daily draws and will receive exciting gifts and certificates. All the ongoing events will also be displayed on a large LCD screen, courtesy Talentz Centre LLC.

Chefs from leading hotels and prominent chains will be showcasing their talents in the exhibition. These include Al Bustan Palace

Muscat, Muscat InterContinental and Crowne Plaza Hotel from InterContinental Hotels Group, Shangri-La's Barr Al Jissah Resort & Spa, Grand Hyatt Muscat, the newly opened City Seasons, Bamboo Kitchen and Illy Coffee.

"We often admire a chef's talent on a buffet table, but rarely come across an opportunity to get a glimpse into the dedication and patience that goes into conceiving these 'creations'. We are happy to be hosting the event once again and look forward to welcoming guests who are sure to be inspired by the culinary display of experts," stated Uttam Kotian, manager Advertising-Marketing, Al Araithi Complex.